

The meaning of the game

The Aşîti Games project aims to generate Urban Games using some social innovation methodologies. A group of young multi-religious will organize them in cities and squares throughout Europe, especially in places hit by terrorist attacks, to generate a change in the perception of places that are the scene of attacks and provide a glaring experience on how religions do not are an obstacle to peaceful cohabitation. The training will be oriented towards the creation of a working team able to be influencers in their community to which they belong to. They will be able to involve other young people from different religions, schools, local authorities and citizens

ABOUT US

Creativi108 is an Italian organization committed to promoting innovation and strengthening the spirit of inclusion.

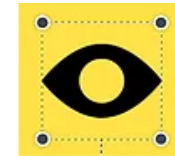

Recognizing human development as a crucial factor for the cohesion of societies, we develop research and are able to provide innovative solutions that facilitate the resolution of social problems.

In order to achieve our goal, we adopt an olistic and transectorial approach.

We collaborate with social, academic and commercial partners from Italy and abroad, with the aim of producing and transferring know-how, promoting the culture of inclusion and enhancing human value.
